Allis

Product Description: The Allis recliner is constructed of solid aluminum framing wrapped in handwoven, all-weather weave. The arms feature a supple, faux-leather padded armrest. The baffled headrest front panel is of the same plush faux-leather material from Ultra Fabrics. This allows for optimal comfort for the always overlooked high-pressure areas of elbows and heads. The main seating area is made of plush cushions wrapped in Outdura fabric.

Operational/Functional Aspects: The main component for this product is the padded armrest with the headrest being a close second. Too often lounge chair arms are wrapped in wicker and not that comfortable for extended lounging. We wanted to change that and give customers ample cushion and support from head to toe. Fully cushioned seat, back and footrest make up the first stage of comfort. Padded armrest give customers a soft place to rest their arms and not have to worry about wicker digging into their arms. The faux-leather headrest is the final stop on the comfort train, uber soft fabric cradles the head and neck offering ultra comfort from head to toe.
